

Welcome to CBH Training

UK Specialists in Management of Training and Development Courses

At CBH Training we specialise in delivering customised Training and Development courses tailored for our customers' needs and targeted at providing benefit. We can train on your company premises; avoiding the need for your staff to travel and allowing the course to be tailored specifically to their requirements. We can provide training at times to suit your workforce including night or weekends for no extra charge. We also include a free 90-day support line after the training should attendees require assistance in applying what has been learned.

"Only 1% of the British workforce currently has an IT qualification, yet the majority of us use computers in our work".

Targeted training improves staff morale and efficiency and pays back within three months.

At CBH Training we have built a reputation for working with companies to tailor Training and Development programmes that focus on achieving measurable business benefits. This means attendees train with the tools they need to use and learn topics relevant to their business. CBH Training has a wealth of experience; working with organisations of all sizes, across many business sectors throughout the UK. We offer flexible management of Training and Development courses across a broad business sector.

Quotes from some of our trainees include:

- The course was very well structured, addressing individual needs at the right levels and making the content easy to understand.

Tracey Leadbeatter

- Nice to have a course where the tutor had a thorough understanding of their subject and the ability to communicate it.

Jamie Quirk

- Course was very well run and informative. Will make taking of Minutes more concise.
